

Supply Chain Management

The second week of the three-week e-Commerce Solutions and Supply Chain Management course incorporates a special workshop on Supply Chain Management (SCM). Nowadays, Economic volatility driven by inflation, energy crises and geopolitical tensions, fierce competition – among other forces – have created a new reality for Postal business. It's no longer enough to focus on resilience and short-term profitability. Postal Businesses need to transform to survive and grow. The supply chain is no longer an operational concern; it is a strategic asset that holds the key to success in turbulent times. Technology adoption should be aligned with overall business strategy to ensure digital investments contribute to long-term growth and competitive advantage. Sustainability is now a value driver, not a cost. Embedding ESG principles into your business ensures long-term viability in a changing world. From this special workshop, the participants will lern more about the entire supply chain in postal sector with the SCM case studies from many Designated Operators.
